Curriculum 2023-24

Our Vision

'Learning and growing in the love of God.'

Working definition of the curriculum

'The curriculum is a framework for setting out the aims of a programme of education, including the knowledge and understanding to be gained at each stage (intent); for translating that framework over time into a structure and narrative, within an institutional context (implementation) and for evaluating what knowledge and understanding pupils have gained against expectations (impact/achievement).'

Our curriculum principles

The curriculum is mapped and planned with a clear process of learning in mind. It has specific learning intentions for every subject, ensuring that children receive a broad and balanced curriculum which equips them for the next stage in their learning as well as life in modern Britain.

Our curriculum follows a Knowledge-engaged approach. We want children to learn skills alongside knowledge, ensuring that both are explicitly developed. For example, constructing arguments and balance evidence in History alongside knowledge of historical chronology. Our curriculum is designed to ensure so that pupils can achieve both knowledge and skill.

Knowledge or Skills: What is the real substance of education? \(fenews.co.uk\)

The school's curriculum promotes and sustains a thirst for knowledge and understanding and also a love of learning. It is planned and organised on a termly basis. English, including grammar, punctuation and spelling, along with Mathematics, are taught on a daily basis. Where possible this is through a cross-curricular approach linked to the theme currently being studied by the children. Other curriculum areas such as Art, Science, Design & Technology, Computing, History and Geography are taught through a thematic approach. PE and Religious Education are also taught at least once a week. All children experience Personal, Social and Health Education (PSHE) through a taught curriculum. Our curriculum has been designed to ensure enriched learning but also to help teachers make all learning exciting, active and meaningful for children.
